

Last weekend of the Bocholt Christmas market

Christmas is fast approaching and the final evening of the Bocholt Christmas market is just around the corner. On the fourth Sunday in Advent, 22 December, all visitors will once again be put in a Christmassy mood with atmospheric live music. The Sporker Musikanten will play at the end of the festival from 5 to 7 p.m. in the well-known square under the arches of the historic town hall. But there will also be an interesting programme for the whole family on the Saturday before. On Saturday afternoon, the children's band "Your children's band to keep you warm" will offer a musical children's show from 3 to 4 pm. The children can expect an unforgettable performance full of music, movement and good humour. Afterwards, the well-known group Django Flint, which is particularly popular in Bocholt, will provide musical entertainment at the Bocholt Christmas market from 5 to 8 pm.

Weekly market back at the usual location from 24 December

Due to the Christmas holidays, the Bocholt weekly market will also take place on Monday, 23 December, for the last time completely on Gasthausplatz and Osterstraße. From Tuesday, 24 December, the Bocholt weekly market will take place again as usual on the market square in front of the historic town hall and on Gasthausplatz.

There will be no weekly market on Friday, 27 December. On Saturday 28 December and Tuesday 31 December, the weekly market will take place as usual on the market square in front of the historic town hall and on Gasthausplatz. The weekly market is open from 08.00 am.
